

Featured Speaker - Karen Fasimpaur

An enthusiastic user of mobile technologies and an evangelist for Open Education, Karen Fasimpaur has over fifteen years experience in education and educational technology, working with schools and educational organizations to integrate technology.

Ms. Fasimpaur is currently President of K12 Handhelds, which focuses on mobile computing in education. She is also the founder of the K12 Open Ed web site and the Kids Open Dictionary project. She is an award-winning author, a blogger, and the host of the podcast "Karen's Educational Mashups."

Earlier in her career, Ms. Fasimpaur served as President of Futurekids, a K-12 educational technology integration company with operations in 75 countries worldwide. Before that, she was an executive at Davidson & Associates (later known as Knowledge Adventure and Vivendi Universal Publishing) where Ms. Fasimpaur oversaw a joint venture with Addison Wesley to produce an innovative multimedia history curriculum in collaboration with the California, Florida, and Texas state departments of education. She also lived and taught in Africa.

Workshops

Tuesday, February 17 5:00 - 8:00 pm

Become a Mini-Movie Producer*

Wednesday, February 18 8:30 - 11:30 am

Web 2.0 All You Can Eat Buffet

Wednesday, February 18 1:00 - 4:00 pm

Become a Mini-Movie Producer *

* camera included additional fee.